

INSIDE AAU TAEKWONDO

KP & P Update

It has recently come to my attention that Vision USA had posted the following message on its web site concerning the new (Version 2.0) KP&P sock.

IMPORTANT UPDATE

Sensitivity level got doubled with two additional sensor chips. Now there are total four sensor chips to make your game more accurate and fair. All AAU competitors for upcoming Nationals must wear the version 2.0 to avoid any potential disadvantage.

This notice is 100% incorrect and misleading! It is our opinion and the opinion of those we have questioned regarding the new sock, that YES, if the event is featuring the new KP&P E-Headgear then this new sock with the additional sensors should seriously be considered.

However, as long as we are NOT using the E-Headgear then the older version KP&P sock will certainly suffice. You may choose to purchase the new sock if you so like or to provide yourself with some additional peace of mind. But AAU competitors are NOT being required to make this purchase. It is entirely up to you.

Additionally, I am told by Vision that they will no longer carry the Version 1.0 sock. I have been told that other KP&P distributors, such as Dynamics on the East Coast and Masterline on the West Coast both carry and can supply Version 1.0 if you wish to make such a purchase. The CHOICE is entirely yours.
