MAGIC HOUSE

At The Magic House, little kids can go on a cool adventure! They get to play in a mini village, check out awesome science stuff, and even pretend to be a doctor or vet. Plus, there's a fun area that changes all the time to show what life is like in other countries—like what food they eat and the houses they live in!

ST LOUIS ARCH

Hop on a tram for a journey to the summit of this shining 630-foot monument. Once you snugly fit into a modern five-person pod, it's a four-minute ascent.

From the top, little windows unveil breathtaking views of the Old Courthouse, downtown St. Louis, and the vast expanse westward to the Mississippi River and Illinois on the east. As tickets tend to sell out, make sure to secure your spots in advance.

ST LOUIS ZOO

St. Louis is a hotspot for furry, flying, and fishy friends just waiting to say hello. The Endangered Wolf Center in Eureka, a hidden gem in the area, is dedicated to saving and protecting wild canids. Take a daytime tour to catch a glimpse or join a nighttime howl to hear these amazing creatures. On the flip side, the Saint Louis Zoo, a popular spot in Forest Park, offers enchanting animal encounters. Renowned for its work in animal management, research, conservation, and education, the zoo treats visitors to scenes of bears splashing in plunge pools, monkeys swinging from trees, and penguins squawking for more fish.

CITY MUSEUM

Step into a world of surprises at City Museum! Located in a massive 600,000-square-foot warehouse that used to be a shoe company, this architectural playground is for all ages. Immerse yourself in the adventure by climbing into a whale's mouth, zooming down a 10-story slide, and even taking the controls of a suspended airplane.
